Bharat Mata Temple

A unique temple dedicated to Mother India, this temple houses a relief map of India, carved out of marble, instead of the customary gods and goddesses.

Banaras Hindu University

Incepted in 1916, the Banaras Hindu University nestles over 25,000 students, making it one of Asia's largest residential universities.

Tulsi Manas Temple

The Tulsi Manas Temple was built in 1964 by a philanthropist family of Varanasi and is devoted to Lord Rama. With an exquisite structure of white marble, it has the verses and scenes of the holy book Ramcharitmanas engraved on its walls.

Monkey Temple

This temple quite opposite to its name, is dedicated to the goddess Durga and stands today in the typical Nagara style of architecture in red sandstone. It has a sacred pool in it which is believed to be connected to the holy river Ganga.

Sarnath Monastery

Also known as the Tibetan Temple, it is one of the highly revered pilgrimage sites in Sarnath and is located close to the main market. It has a stupa which was built to pay homage to Tibetan Independence Movement warriors.

Sarnath Museum

This famous archaeological museum houses various ancient objects ranging from Buddhist arts, images of Hindu Gods and other historical things related to the culture of Buddhists.

Mulgandha Kuti Vihar

Built by the Sri Lankan Mahabodhi Society in 1931, it is the place where Lord Buddha spent his first rainy season. The walls of this temple have beautiful frescoes depicting the life of the Buddha.

Pink Temple (Buddha)

Called the gulabi or pink temple because of the colour, this temple houses a beautiful sitting statue of buddha. It is located on the main circuit of Sarnath.

Japanese Temple (Horinji Temple)

One of the many new temples in Sarnath, the Horinji temple has aesthetically pleasing interiors that represent peacefulness. Situated inside is also a beautiful statue of Lord Buddha in a reclining pose.

Korean Temple (Nokyawon)

Located just a few metres away from the pink temple, the Nokyawon has many ancient scriptures and also a pillar that is said to denote Indo-Korean friendship.

Dhamek Stupa

Dhamekh Stupa is the place where Lord Buddha had given his first conversation about Dharma. It is also called as the Dharma Chakra Stupa since it contains 8 niche images of Lord Buddha preaching about Dharma.

Heritage Walk 🐝

A source of cultural and anthropological intrigue since ancient times, the city of Varanasi has the holy river Ganga that provides a bewildering landscape of Ghats, temples and a way for many Hindu rituals.

The essence of Varanasi is captured in the streets of the city which have narrow and puzzled alleys, beautiful temples and shrines, old Buddhist monasteries, age-old buildings, various cultural and religious diversities, all the major markets, and authentic native food of the place.

Niraan - The Tent City, Varanasi helps you gain an experience of all these traditions while taking you through a guided Heritage Walk that captures this charm.
